NHHLA ANNOUNCES NEW WEBSITE/DATABASE LAUNCH

MEMPHIS, TENN. – NHHLA is pleased to announce the launch of its new website and integration of netFORUM Enterprise, Abila’s industry-leading association management system (AMS). The updated website is equipped with a responsive design including streamlined menus, simple navigation and access to the information visitor’s need on any device.

The NetForum software allows all transactions of the Association to be done in real time and by our members via the website. Online event registration and payment is now available, not just for the convention but for short courses and the Inspector Training School.

“We are so excited to offer a new user-friendly website to our members. We believe that this new site will allow our visitors to have an informative experience and we will continue to build upon it as we grow the Association and outreach to the hardwood industry,” said NHHLA Executive Director, Lorna Christie.

The new site will continue to develop and is already slated for additions in the coming weeks. Online invoice payments for advertising, exhibit booths and membership will all be available in the next 30 days.

NHHLA members will need to request a new password upon visiting the site for the first time. Instructions about how to obtain a new password can be found on the Sign-In page.

Registration for the NHHLA Annual Convention & Exhibit Showcase is NOW OPEN.

Visit the new website and register for the Annual Convention at www.nhla.com.

The world’s largest and oldest hardwood industry association, NHHLA represents more than 1,200 companies and individuals that produce, use and sell North American hardwood lumber, or provide equipment, supplies or services to the hardwood industry. It was founded in 1898 to establish a uniform system of grading rules for the measurement and inspection of hardwood lumber. Since 1980, its headquarters have been in Memphis, Tenn. To learn more about NHLA, please visit www.nhla.com.
